GROUP MANAGEMENT REPORT

ECONOMIC FRAMEWORK CONDITIONS

Worldwide demand for passenger cars continued its robust development in the second quarter 2013 and was noticeably stronger than in the same period of the previous year. This was mainly due to the ongoing positive market development in the United States and China. The US market expanded by just over 8% compared to the previous year. Car sales in China increased once again at a double-digit rate, despite only moderate economic dynamism.

However, new car registrations in Western Europe were still below the previous year's level, but there have been some indications of market stabilization in recent months.

The overall decline of almost 4% was significantly lower than in the first quarter. Sales in Germany decreased once again, but demand stabilized also in that market. Demand for medium and heavy-duty trucks continued to fall in many key markets in the second quarter 2013, however, the market clearly seems to have bottomed out in the meanwhile.

The Western European market was still affected by the weak economy, but the drop in demand was only of a single-digit percentage compared to the previous year. Adjusted for seasonal effects, there was actually a slight improvement in the demand situation compared to the previous quarter.

¹⁾ EBITDA and EBIT for der period H1 2012 are adjusted by the one off gain of EUR 0.6 mill. resulting from the deconsolidation from the Zaragoza plant in the first quarter 2012.

Due to the weak sales development of several relevant customers of the Group in the first quarter 2013, POLYTEC GROUP's total sales declined by 4.1% to EUR 232.9 million in the first half 2013 compared to the same period of the previous year.

In the second quarter 2013, however, the positive development of the automotive industry – in both the passenger car and commercial vehicle segments – led to an increase in sales by 2.1% to EUR 122.0 million compared to the second quarter 2012. Compared to the first quarter 2013, total sales rose by 10.0% thanks to a significant increase in tooling sales.

In the period under review, the non-automotive business reported a decrease in sales of EUR 4.2 million mainly attributable to the weak development of the garden furniture business and the loss of a contract as already mentioned in the interim report for the first quarter 2013.

The adjusted EBIT of the Group dropped by EUR 4.0 million to EUR 9.8 million in the first half 2013. This corresponds to an EBIT margin of 4.2%. Higher than planned operating ramp up costs in connection with several injection molding projects and related material and personnel cost overruns as well as the aforementioned decline in sales in the non-automotive business had a negative impact on the group results for the first half 2013. The tax ratio of the POLYTEC GROUP amounted to 18.0% at the end of the first half 2013.

All in all, the POLYTEC GROUP reported a net result of EUR 7.6 million in the period under review, which corresponds to earnings per share of EUR 0.33 compared to EUR 0.53 in the previous year.

In the period under review, POLYTEC GROUP's shareholders' equity decreased by 1.9% to EUR 131.1 million compared to the balance sheet date as of December 31, 2012. At the end of the first half 2013, the equity ratio amounted to 50.4% (H1 2012: 47.8 %). Dividend payments of EUR 0.35 per share totaling EUR 7.7 million in the second quarter 2013 led to a reduction in equity.

Moreover, POLYTEC Holding AG acquired a 20% minority stake in POLYTEC FOHA INC. and POLYTEC FOHA Corp. respectively. POLYTEC Holding AG already held an 80% stake in both companies, which were also included in the Group's consolidated financial statements. This acquisition led to a reduction of non-controlling interests of EUR 0.4 million. In the second quarter 2013, EUR 0.1 million were spent to buy-back 21,500 treasury shares.

Furthermore, it should be noted that the equity ratio showed for the 2012 business year had to be reduced from its original value of 51.4% to 50.8% due to the changes made in the accounting and evaluation methods in connection with the retrospective application of the revised IAS 19 standard to comparative periods (corridor method – see explanation in the Selected Explanatory Notes).

OUTLOOK

With regard to the further course of business in 2013, the Management of POLYTEC Holding expects a stable development. Sales and earnings in the second half of 2013 are expected to match the level of the first half-year.

Taking into consideration the result for the period, this led to a slight decline in the equity ratio by 0.4 percentage points to 50.4% compared to the balance sheet date.

The balance sheet total remained almost unchanged at EUR 260.0 million compared to the balance sheet date as of December 31, 2012.

The increase in net working capital by EUR 12.4 million in the period under review compared to the balance sheet date as of December 31, 2012 is mainly attributable to the increase in receivables from construction contracts in connection with the rising number of injection molding projects.

Financial assets declined by roughly 14.5 million to EUR 0.1 million in the period under review compared to the balance sheet date as of December 31, 2012.

This decline in financial assets is mainly attributable to the significant increase in receivables from construction contracts mentioned above, the repayment of group loans as well as to the company's capital expenditures, which amounted to EUR 7.2 million in the first half 2013, and to dividend payments totaling EUR 7.7 million.

The lower expectation is a result of the sales decline within the Non-Automotive business and its impact on earnings as well as higher than planned ramp up costs in connection with several injection molding projects.

BUSINESS SEASONALITY

The quarterly reporting of POLYTEC GROUP's sales throughout one financial year strictly correlates to the car manufacturing operations of the Group's customers. For this reason, quarters in which customers normally close for works holidays generally have lower rates of sales turnover than quarters without such effects. In addition to this, sales from one quarter can also be influenced by the billing of large tool or development projects.
